

BRADY NEWSLETTER

3rd July 2020

Dear Parents,

This half term is racing by, and it is with a heavy heart that we know we will not have most of you back in school before September. This is not how we wanted 2020 to go.

Many of you will have received calls from your current teachers this week, they have all been itching to talk to all of the children again, those who have not received these calls this week will get them next week. Its been lovely to hear about all of the hard work you have been doing, and the fun you have been having with your family. I know the teachers have also been delighted with all the emails they have been receiving.

Over the course of the next couple of weeks the teachers will also be in touch with their new classes either via a small video or phone call. We will not get the transition we want this year but we want to try and ensure that the children are as comfortable as possible ahead of their return to school.

Many of you will have seen the press information released by the Government yesterday about a return to school in September. The guidance was released to school's yesterday lunchtime – after it hit the press! We are delighted to see that it will mean a return for all children in September, however this will need to be carefully planned to ensure that the health and safety of the children and staff in our Brady Community is maintained.

The SLT will be digesting the guidance and planning what our return will look like in September over the next week and will be in touch via a video as soon as possible, with what this could mean for you and your family in September.

I want to say a huge thank you for all of the support we have received from the whole community over what has been an incredibly hard time for everyone. We will need your support to continue in September to follow the plan set out to ensure safety, as well as getting the children back into the school.

Take care, stay safe and I hope to see you all soon.

Michael Nunn
Headteacher

Building Update

The building work has continued at a huge pace as I am sure many of you have seen when visiting the school. At the moment we are on schedule for the September opening of more of the school building.

I will put some photos up on twitter over the next week or so, so you can all have a sneaky look inside.

If you do not follow our twitter page please sign up for it at @BradyPrimary, updates on here have not been as regular as normal at the moment, but it will be increasing now we have more guidance and direction from the Local Authority.

Closure of the school

As I said in the letter I sent out earlier this week the school will be closing on Thursday 16th July this year.

This will allow us time to ensure that the school is deep cleaned, and everything is boxed up and ready to move into the new building in September.

Details about the term dates for the next academic year will be confirmed in the next week or so. As soon as I have had these confirmed I will send them out to you so you can make plans.